50 years of ISKCON - the joy of devotion

Over fifty years ago in September 1965, an elderly, 70 year old Indian monk stepped off the piers of New York harbour wearing orange Indian robes and sporting a dignified vaishnava tilak mark on his forehead. He was carrying just seven dollars, a few sets of clothes and two trunk-loads of books. The aristocratic looking monk was A. C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupada, who had been sent by his spiritual master from India to preach the message of the Bhagavad-gita to the western world.

In just ten short years, Srila Prabhupada, who came to America almost penniless, established a worldwide community of devotees practising India's ancient science of bhakti-yoga, and made 'Hare Krishna' a household name all over the globe.

Srila Prabhupada left this world in November 1977. By then he had:

- Established over 108 temples and farm communities
- Travelled the world 7 times festivals and Sunday feast programs.

- Initiated over 5,000 disciples
- Written over 80 books
- Founded the world's largest publishing and distributing house for Vedic literature
- Started the world's largest vegetarian food relief programme
- Introduced Indian festivals and culture such as Ratha Yatra to scores of Western cities around the world
- Initiated the concept of 'simple living and high thinking' through several farm communities around the world

It was Srila Prabhupada who fulfilled a prediction made by Lord Chaitanya 500 years ago that 'in every town and village' the holy name of Krishna will be heard.

The explosion

Srila Prabhupada's disciples carried on the Founder's vision by continuing to expand his movement under the guidance and instructions he had left behind. In the fifty years since 1966, ISKCON has achieved many milestones, as given below:

- 650 - the number of ISKCON centres, temples and schools worldwide
- 520 million - the number of books and magazines published by Bhaktivedanta Book Trust and distributed by ISKCON devotees worldwide
- 110 - the number of Hare Krishna restaurants around the world
- 3 billion - the number of free plates of sanctified vegetarian meals distributed worldwide since 1966
- 65 - the number of eco-friendly farms run by ISKCON to practice 'simple living and high thinking'.
- 12 million - the number of people who worship in ISKCON temples around the world, every year
- 2 million - the number of meals distributed every day to needy school children in India by ISKCON Food Relief Foundation, also known as 'Annamrita' as part of the Government's mid-day meal programme
- 340,000 - the number of patients treated by ISKCON hospitals such as Bhaktivedanta Hospital in Mira Road, the Bhaktivedanta Hospice in Vrindavan, mobile clinics and eye camps
- 260,000 - 2.6 million devotees walked 260,000 kms visiting 52,000 towns and villages in 170 countries as part of the worldwide padayatra to bring the holy name to every town and village around the world
- 100,000 - since 1966 over 100,000 devotees around the world have taken spiritual initiation into the Gaudiya tradition
- 6000 - there are more than 6000 Hare Krishna festivals held every year around the world
- 3600 - the number of home study groups (Bhakti Vriksha groups) around the world

"This movement of Sankirtana (the chanting of the holy names of God) are the only means for spiritual realization: very simple and universal."

— Srimad Bhagavatam 4.21.26 purport
