Synopsis: Hare Krishna! is a feature length documentary film on the life of Srila Prabhupada - the 70-year-old Indian Swami who arrived in America without support or money in the turbulent 1960s. It explores how he ignited the worldwide cultural revolution of spiritual consciousness, known as the Hare Krishna movement. Using never-before-seen archival footage, Prabhupada's own recorded words, interviews with his early followers and scholars, and through beautiful re-enactments, the film takes the audience behind-the-scenes of a cultural movement born in the artistic and intellectual scene of New York's Bowery, the hippie mecca of Haight Ashbury, and the Beatle mania of London, to meet the Swami who started it all.

Directors: The film is directed by John and Jean Griesser (Yadubara Dasa and Visakha Devi Dasi), veteran filmmakers who have teamed up with professional filmmakers from all around the country to create the film.
